

URSCHEL CASE COMPLETED BY GOVERNMENT

Closing Arguments Will Be Started Today

By William Voigt, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Writer
Oklahoma City, Sept. 27.—(P)—The government took a parting shot at the Urschel family in rebuttal testimony of a federal agent and wound up the Charles F. Urschel kidnapping conspiracy trial today. Arguments will begin tomorrow.

E. J. Dowd, Dallas operative of the federal division of investigation, was the lone witness called for rebuttal of testimony after the defense rested.

"For two hours while they were in my custody in Dallas the Shannons steadily denied any knowledge of the Urschel kidnapping," Dowd declared.

R. G. Shannon, his wife, Ora, and his son, Armon, were arrested at their farm home near Paradise, Texas, where Urschel was kept prisoner.

The Shannons' lawyers objected vigorously to an attempt by District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde to have Dowd testify that these defendants had not told the truth.

The close of the case came after a succession of developments.

Federal agents announced that a raid on a Coleman, Texas, farm netted $73,250 of the $200,000 ransom paid for Urschel's release. The money was found buried in a cotton patch and Cass Coleman, the farmer, was arrested. He is a brother of Mrs. Shannon and uncle of Kathryn Kelly, who was captured in Memphis, Tenn., with her machine gunner husband, George Kelly.

Judge Edgar S. Vaughn announced the attorneys for the four groups of defendants will be allowed five hours for argument and the prosecution three and one half hours.

Attorneys for Albert Bates and Harvey Bailey, accused principals in the abduction, did not have their clients testify.

Bates had been pointed out many times as the actual kidnaper with Kelly, Bailey, a fugitive from the Kansas state prison, was caught with $700 of Urschel money and a machine gun in his possession on the Shannon farm.

"They haven't proved, Bailey had anything to do with this kidnapping and I am not going to let the government sharpshooters snipe at him and try to get something on him regarding the crimes he did not commit," said James H. Myers, his lawyer.

"The government had bankers from Kungfisher, Okla., and from Kansas City here today to pin a bank robbery and the union station massacre onto Bailey."

The last defense testimony of the case was in behalf of the five Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants—Sam Kronick, Sam Kronick, Barney Berman, Clifford Skelly and Isadore Blumenfeld.

Kronick and Kronick detailed the handling of $500 of the ransom. They were the only defendants of this group to take the stand.

Kronick, a naturalized Russian, spoke in broken English.

"My cousin, Sam Kronberg, loaned me money to pay on my account with the company where he is secretary," said Kronick.

Kronberg previously had stated the money was repayment of a loan to his friend, Berman. It was later identified as part of the Urschel ransom.

"The officers told me it was bad money, and I didn't want to get Sam Kronberg in trouble. I wanted to shield him so he would not be arrested, and I told the police that I got the money from my customers," said Kronick.

He operated a barber supply house, Kronberg's company is one of his sources of supply.

Armon Shannon, 21-year-old son of R. G. Shannon, testified.

"Kelly told me he would give me $1,500 if I did what he ordered, but he never did pay me anything," Armon said.

Although Kelly and Bates were away from his home for some time during Urschel's imprisonment, Armon said he made no attempt to leave, or to free the kidnapped oil man.

"Kelly said he would kill me," the youth said.

Grill Gangster

Chicago police are grilling Gus Winkler, above, gangster high on the roll of the city's public enemies, regarding the holdup in which Federal Reserve mail pouches were stolen and Police-Mike Cunningham was slain. ## FIND $73,250 RANSOM MONEY NEAR COLEMAN

Farmer Claims Currency Was Buried By George Kelly

Coleman, Tex., Sept. 27.—(P)—From a cotton patch federal agents today dug up $73,250 of the Charles F. Urschel ransom money buried by George (Machine Gun) Kelly, who is under arrest at Memphis.

Armed on an unrevealed tip, the agents went to the farm home of Cass Coleman, an uncle of Kathryn Kelly, George Kelly's wife, and arrested Coleman. Then they went directly to a lone mesquite tree in the middle of a cotton patch a half-mile from the farm house and began digging.

In one hole they found a thermos jug containing $46,000 in $20 bills neatly stacked in another nearby they came upon a molasses can which contained the rest of the money.

Frank J. Blake, in charge of the Dallas office of the department of justice, said the jug and can apparently had been buried several weeks but rains had obliterated any hint of activities in the immediate neighborhood.

"George Kelly buried the money there," Blake declared.

He said that the department of justice had learned that the much-sought desperado, who was captured at Memphis early yesterday with his wife, had been at Coleman about the middle of August. Reports circulated here, however, indicated that he had been in this vicinity nine days ago.

Blake announced that the money had been taken to a "safe place" and said that Coleman likely would be charged with harboring a criminal.

Of the $200,000 paid for Urschel's release, $79,650 has been recovered. About $700 of it was found on Harvey Bailey, who he was arrested near Paradise, Tex., Aug. 12, an equal amount was taken from Albert Bates when he was captured at Denver several days later and the rest apparently was circulated by Kelly through his St. Paul, Minn., contacts.

Kronberg and Kronick detailed the handling of $500 of the ransom. They were the only defendants of this group to take the stand.

Kronick, a naturalized Russian, spoke in broken English.

"My cousin, Sam Kronberg, loaned me money to pay on my account with the company where he is secretary," said Kronick.

Kronberg previously had stated the money was repayment of a loan to his friend, Berman. It was later identified as part of the Urschel ransom.

"The officers told me it was bad money, and I didn't want to get Sam Kronberg in trouble. I wanted to shield him so he would not be arrested, and I told the police that I got the money from my customers," said Kronick.

He operated a barber supply house, Kronberg's company is one of his sources of supply.

Armon Shannon, 21-year-old son of R. G. Shannon, testified.

"Kelly told me he would give me $1,500 if I did what he ordered, but he never did pay me anything," Armon said.

Although Kelly and Bates were away from his home for some time during Urschel's imprisonment, Armon said he made no attempt to leave, or to free the kidnapped oil man.

"Kelly said he would kill me," the youth said.

FORMER MEMBER OF CRIME SQUAD IS CONVICTED

Harry Lang Who Wounded Frank Nitti Held For Assault

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(P)—Former detective sergeant Harry Lang, one-time member of the late Mayor Anton Cermak's special crime squad, was convicted tonight by a criminal court jury of assault with a deadly weapon upon Frank Nitti, former Capone gangster and "public enemy."

The conviction was on the second count of an indictment returned following the shooting of Nitti in the so-called "crime syndicate" loop office.

The verdict, returned after three and a half hours deliberations, carries a penalty of up to a year imprisonment in the county jail or a fine of $25 to $1,000 or both. Judge Thomas J. Lynch set October 17 to hear the defense motion for a new trial.

During the jury's decision was announced the former detective, suspended after he refused to testify against Nitti when the gangster was tried for shooting him, slumped in his seat but recovered to say: "Oh, well, it was not so bad."

The state had asked his conviction on the first count of the indictment, attempting to kill Nitti. Lang maintained during the trial the shooting resulted from his arid in protecting the life of the late Mayor Anton Cermak from gang enemies who plotted his assassination because of his war on criminals.

HAS LEG AMPUTATED

RAILROADS CAN OBTAIN FUNDS FOR EQUIPMENT

Roosevelt Announces Plan To Give Aid To Carriers

By Frances M. Stephenson.
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Sept. 27.—(P)—President Roosevelt added fresh federal support to American industry today with an offer to the railroads of a federal loan for an all-inclusive and immediate purchase of new equipment.

He made known that the good offices of the government would be used to compile the needs of the carriers for new stock with the purpose of making a single gigantic order which is expected to bring lower steel prices as in the collective deal for few rails.

The president moved rapidly in the Hudson river town, New York to his boyhood home to map the next steps in his national recovery drive.

Greeted by Thousands
The president has a broad smile as he arrived at the train station and lining his route from the metropolis.

Stopping at the front porch of his home before motorizing for a look at the agricultural pursuits on the place Mr. Roosevelt talked with newspapermen accompanying him.

As for an immediate statement on his credit expansion plans, he simply said he had been interested in reports. He predicted none, but there is every prospect that before he returns to Washington Mr. Roosevelt will make a speech or two which will tell the people just what he is thinking in the way of the future.

The president obviously feels that if the idle money in closed banks and in other deposits is put to use a fair way can be made of the money for credit. Apparently he is convinced that these funds will provide the backing for his price-lifting campaign for agriculture and industry.

He is going to give the bankers a message to shut down this direction. Meanwhile, he is giving the power given him by congress to issue new currency and devalue the dollar as further inflation moves.

Mr. Roosevelt left no doubt as he arrived home that he is carefully watching the Cuban crisis. He wants to see if the new government can go ahead—can collect taxes, among other things.

Commerce Comes To Standstill Thruout Cuba
Labor Situation Over Entire Island Is Becoming Acute, Claim

By Edmund A. Chester
Associated Press Staff Writer
Havana, Sept. 27.—(P)—Commerce throughout Cuba came to a standstill tonight as thousands of members and sympathizers of the various Spanish regional societies, registered public protest against a decree of the Grau San Martin government.

Meanwhile, the labor situation in several sections of the island became more acute. A six-hour general strike in Havana was scheduled for Friday. Communists were active in some places, new demands were made by strikers at others and unconfirmed reports of a new revolutionary outbreak were received.

Persons high in political circles foresaw the possibility of serious racial trouble.

Approximately 60,000 demonstrators participated in the protest meeting of the Spanish societies held in Havana, which was climaxed by a parade to the palace. Simultaneous meetings were held in most of the important towns in the island.

The protests were aimed at a recent decree of the president which compelled all practicing physicians in Cuba to become members of the National Medical Federation. The decree would have the effect of forcing the Spanish societies to meet certain demands of federated physicians, particularly in regard to the fees to be charged members of the societies for medical service.

The streets were heavily guarded as the demonstrators assembled in Central Park and Fraternity Park, both in the center of uptown Havana. The police used tear gas to disperse the demonstrators as medical students passed out handbills saying they would stage their own manifestation despite the lack of permission.

Twenty-five policemen guarded the headquarters of the medical students. On the Prado students mounted park benches and urged the crowds not to join the Spanish societies.

Street car and motor traffic was held to a standstill. A heavy guard of infantry was posted at the capital.

During the demonstration, the president, surrounded by a heavy military guard, rode in his official car to the palace. There was only a little cheering from the crowd.

State Demands Death Penalty For Six Alleged Abductors of August Luer, Aged Alton Man

Edwardsville, Ill., Sept. 27.—(P)—Five men and a woman heard the state demand their death in the electric chair today, as punishment for their alleged participation in the kidnapping of August Luer, wealthy Alton, Ill., banker.

A plea that the jury assess the death penalty against the six defendants, Randolph Norvell, Percy Michael Fitzgerald, Mike Musiala, Christ Nicola Gitcho, Mrs. Lillian Chessen and her husband Charles Chessen, was made by Assistant State's Attorney Austin Lewis.

He previously had given a 50-minute analysis of testimony by Norvell, who from the witness stand admitted his full complicity in the kidnapping of Luer and implicated all his fellow defendants in the abduction. Then he reminded the jury that the previous to their selection they had been asked if they would assess the death penalty if the evidence justified it.

"If ever a case called for the death penalty, it is this one," Lewis said.

The state's argument was begun this morning by Assistant State's Attorney John F. McGinnis, who took up the connection each defendant was shown by the evidence to have had with the abduction.

There was an unholy alliance, a lily alliance, an alliance of crime," he said. He recalled the statements of defendants that they feared each other and were afraid to withdraw from the abduction scheme.

"After they were caught they saw their ship was sinking," McGinnis said. "And so they have this spectacle of rats leaving the ship."

"It is up to you as members of this jury to take out this vermin and crush it to death." Here a defense lawyer objected and was sustained by the court.

"Very well," McGinnis continued. "It may be quite possible that at one time these defendants may have had consciences."

The state's final summation will be made tomorrow by State's Attorney Lewis M. Geers.

After Lewis had finished Robert Tunnell, attorney for Norvell and first defense attorney to address the jury, devoted most of his time to an attack on the testimony of Mrs. Chessen, Musiala and Gitcho, who had declared they were acquitted by fear of Norvell.

He made no mention of state's witnesses who had connected Norvell with the kidnapping and closed his argument with a plea that his client be acquitted.

Luer, aged and ailing, was seized in his home the night of July 10, and held for five days in a small cellar, allegedly on the farm of Musiala.

He was released without the payment of a demanded $100,000 ransom.

Speaking in behalf of Gitcho, Attorney Tunnell said: "They would have you believe the universe is watching this case. X. Gitcho did not take part in seizing, confining or demanding ransom for Luer. The use of his building does not matter. Gitcho was out of the crime when he said he had cold feet. He drew out before the crime was committed."

Indications tonight were that the case would reach the jury late tomorrow.

LABOR TROUBLE THROWN ACROSS NRA COURSE

Act Powerless If Employer Closes His Plant

By James P. Selva.
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Sept. 27.—(P)—New labor troubles were thrown across the course of the Recovery Administration today in intensely the differences between N.R.A. and the Ford Motor Co. A federal mediator, J. F. Dewey, sent to Chester, Penn., to conciliate a strike of Ford employees was told upon his arrival there that there was nothing to mediate because the plant had been closed.

Senator Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board, said: "The N.R.A. is powerless if an employer closes to shut down his plant. Wagner said in reply to questions. "The Recovery Act does not require anyone to operate if he does not so choose."

Hugh S. Johnson, the Recovery Administrator, still was at Walter Reed hospital convalescing from a minor operation. He was described as "feeling fine" but complying with the request of his physicians that he wait until tomorrow before returning to his desk.

Soon after he resumes his duties, the administrator was expected to attend a general reorganization of the N.R.A. from an emergency, temporary setup into a cohesive body ready to function through the two-year life of the Recovery Act.

Drawn by Thomas S. Hammond an Illinois industrialist and high ranking N.R.A. official, with the aid of the policy board, the plan calls for greater accent upon self-regulation by industries operating under codes, with the government to step in only when necessary.

The general outline of the reorganization which Johnson is expected to make public soon is given as follows by a high official: "After these codes have been approved by the president and industry has its charter under which, with the aid of national purchasing power, it should operate successfully and at a profit, the part of the administration should be largely one of a silent partner."

"Only when the code authority of an industry finds that it is failing in this self-governing program should it be necessary to call in the representatives of the Recovery Administration who are non-voting members of that code authority."

"The degree of government control will depend, in my mind, entirely on how far each industry will govern itself in the best interests of labor, its capital and the public. If it fails this is naturally must invite a larger degree of government control."

While Johnson up to this time has been the lone directing head of the N.R.A. with no one designated as first assistant in charge during his absence, it was indicated Robert W. Lea, recently appointed assistant administrator, in the future, will share much of the executive work.

GEORGE KELLY ADMITS PART IN KIDNAPING

Machine Gunner Says He Was Not In On Other Jobs

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 27.—(P)—George Kelly, reputed machine gunner for the underworld of the western bad lands, tonight confessed, officers said, to a part in the kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil millionaire.

"You got me right on the Urschel kidnapping," Kelly was quoted by W. A. Rorer, department of justice agent, as saying tonight.

Kelly admitted the kidnapping Rorer said, "but not the Chicago robbery or the Kansas City Union Station job."

Federal Judge Harry B. Anderson at Jackson, Tenn., today signed a removal order permitting authorities to take Kelly and his wife, Kathryn, to Oklahoma City to face trial on the kidnapping charges. They were arrested here yesterday.

Waive Extradition
The Kellys at first had said they would fight extradition, but before Judge Anderson's order was announced told officers they were ready to return for trial.

Federal agents still closely guarded their plans for removal of the pair to Oklahoma.

Rorer would add nothing to the brief quotations from Kelly, refusing to say whether a more detailed statement had been obtained.

Kelly's alleged statement on the Chicago robbery referred to the hold-up of federal reserve bank messengers and the slaying of a policeman on the night of September 21. His reference to the "Kansas City Union Station job" was to the machine gun slaying of four officers and Frank Nash, notorious criminal, whom the officers had in custody.

Police forces had linked Kelly's name with both slayings.

John M. Keith, department of justice operative, said Langford Ramsey, an attorney and brother of Kelly's first wife, had told in detail how he went to the farm of Cass Coleman near Coleman, Texas, and unsuccessfully tried to obtain $73,250 of the Urschel ransom buried beneath a tree in a cotton field.

The money was recovered on the Coleman farm by agents today.

Ramsey, Keith said, first planned to go to Texas with Kelly but was persuaded to stay alone. He took his wife and Geraldine Arnold, the 12-year-old girl who tipped officers to Kelly's whereabouts here—to the Coleman farm and asked for Kathryn's "White fox fur." The word "fur" was the code for money.

He also was told that "that party wants to see you" and instruct Coleman to drive to a point five miles west of McGregor, Texas, today and wait for Kelly. If Kelly did not come he was to repeat the trip nightly for a week.

Coleman, he said, was frightened and did not want to meet Kelly.

11,000 ILLINOIS RETAILERS FAIL TO PAY TAXES
State Finance Department Collects $2,211,133 For August

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27.—(P)—With approximately 11,000 retailers failing to make payments for August, collections to date under the two percent sales tax law are under the July total.

State department of finance today had received $2,211,133 for August, compared with $2,480,562 received for July, the first month the revenue law was in effect.

Delinquents apparently are taking a chance that the law will be declared unconstitutional by the Illinois supreme court. On a test case, the law was upheld by the Sangamon county circuit court, but an appeal was taken and oral arguments before the supreme court are scheduled for October 18. If the high court follows its normal procedure, a decision will not be reached before its December term.

For failure to file returns the law provides penalties of from $25 to $500 in fines and jail sentences of from one to six months.

A group of public utility companies have filed suit in Chicago against the regulations under which the sales tax is being administered, contending that services of utilities are intangible and hence exempt.

Each is 5 feet, 3 inches tall and each weighs 105 pounds.

JIM FERGUSON DEPOSITS ARE BEING PROBED

Former Associate Says He Put $22,100 In Bank

Austin, Texas, Sept. 27.—(P)—A former associate of James E. Ferguson, husband of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, testified today before the state senate that Ferguson had deposited in banks in recent months $22,100 in cash, including several $1,000 bills, and had recorded the transactions in a "little black book."

The testimony cropped up in an investigation into expenditures of public funds and was given by Frank W. Chudej, who resigned last August 19 as president of the Ferguson forum, a weekly publication edited by Ferguson.

Ferguson declined to comment.

Reading from what he identified as a photographic copy of ledger sheets he had kept in duplicate, Chudej testified Ferguson had handed him the money in cash at various times between Jan. 4 and August 17 for deposit in the accounts of the Ferguson forum and the Bosque creamery.

The witness said the "little black book" of the former governor, who was impeached and removed from office in 1917, had disappeared about six weeks before he left Ferguson's employ.

Chudej said the amounts he deposited for Ferguson were not receipts from circulation or advertising in the forum, and not for sales of creamery products. He added that he did not know of any other business in which Ferguson was engaged.

By Ferguson's orders, Chudej related, he had drawn checks on the creamery account for bills, including insurance and "groceries for the mansion." He said $400 or $500 had been transferred monthly from other accounts to the ledger.

Senator Will H. Martin asked if Chudej had not offered his testimony as a reprisal against Ferguson because Mrs. Ferguson had failed to appoint him a member of the state board of control.

"It might be true that I was disappointed at not being named to the board, but I did not set my head to get anyone," The witness retorted.

LEGISLATURE WILL CONVENE NEXT MONDAY

Call For Special Session Issued By The Governor

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 27.—(P)—Governor Horner late today issued the formal call for the special session of the general assembly which is to convene next Monday.

Unemployment, relief finances and greater participation in the federal public works program were the major topics upon which he asked emergency legislation.

Of primary importance was Gov. Horner's request that the legislature enact laws to provide funds for the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission to be used for the relief of persons who are destitute and in necessitous circumstances.

To solve this need, the administration is supporting a $300,000 bond issue, to be repaid by the counties from their allocations of motor fuel tax money in direct proportion to the amount of funds used by the counties in unemployment relief work.

Aside from necessary appropriations, six other subjects were opened for consideration at the special session, which is to start at 10 a. m. Tuesday.

"It is apparent," the governor's proclamation said, "that the moneys available from federal, state and local sources will be insufficient for unemployment relief needs in Illinois during the fall and winter months, and legislation is imperative to provide additional funds to supply the necessities of life to persons unable to find employment."

Additional legislation is also necessary to provide for co-operation with the federal government and to conform to and comply with federal laws designed to stimulate construction, re-financing and employment and thereby aid in industrial recovery.

Gov. Horner included in the official agenda legislation to give local governmental units financial power to take full advantage of the federal public works program, to enable Municipal Building and Loan Associations to accept bonds of the Federal Home Owners Loan Corporation and to permit municipalities and other subdivisions to lease or convey their property for self-liquidating public works projects.

Other subjects in the call would provide greater co-operation between the Illinois Free Employment offices and the National Industrial Recovery program, make changes in statutes regarding interest on state deposits, remove ambiguity concerning the time when county boards are to levy taxes this fall and to make necessary appropriations.

Specific bills were not recommended in the official call, which limits to the topics listed the scope of the legislature's activity during the special session.

The legislature is expected to be called into session again later in the year to enact legislation on liquor control and other issues.

STRIKES SPREAD TO INDUSTRIAL CENTERS OF U. S.

Expert Machinists in Detroit Manufacturing District Walk Out

By The Associated Press
Workers in several industrial centers were on strike yesterday, their refusal to return to work impeding the production of an assortment of products—from automobile bodies to bus chassis.

Their protests were based largely on the charge that their employers did not comply with the spirit of the N.R.A. in its recognition of labor.

A walk-out of expert machinists in Detroit's automobile manufacturing district in protest of working hours threatened to tie-up production. Joined by 2,000 men from the Murray Auto Body Manufacturing company, the strikers—tool and die makers—claimed a force of 8,000.

In Chicago, the Ford company's assembly plant, with several thousand employees refusing to work, shut down. A government mediator reported he could take no action.

Pennsylvania's coal strike spread. Pickets enlisted the support of 7,000 more miners, bringing the idle numbers to between 30,000 and 40,000.

Adopting the strategy employed by the Ford officials in Chester, the Wierion, W. Va., steel mills answered a strike of 300 employees by suspending operations.

Implementations of warfare—five baby tanks—were called into use to prevent possible repetition of yesterday's strike riots at the London, Ontario, plants of the Swift-Canadian Packing company.

Nine Philadelphia baking companies asked an injunction to prevent striking drivers from interfering with their business. Home deliveries of bread were abandoned.

A labor impasse at Davenport, Ia., came to an end when laborers working on construction of a government dam across the Mississippi river, accepted a 20 percent wage increase and went back to their tools.

Pulling Together

The depression has affected all classes of people in this nation. Rich men have lost their millions; middle class people have lost their savings and their jobs; the poor have found nothing to do and have had to be cared for by charity. It is true that the very wealthy have not felt the depression, because they have had money to supply all their needs. But they have seen their huge holdings of stocks and bonds melt away.

Now the nation has an opportunity to pull out of this situation; but all must pull together. The NRA program can be effective only as it has the unanimous support of all classes of society. We must emerge from the valley of depression without class struggle, or we may not emerge at all. Capital must be willing to risk investment for the sake of future profits. Labor must accept the benefits the NRA brings and seek to adjust itself to a situation in which it will be much better off than ever before. Men must be willing to work and willing to spend to provide employment.

We read that strikes are "clouding the NRA rainbow." We hear constantly that failure of employers to obtain credit is preventing them from putting the NRA codes into effect. If these things continue to menace the recovery program, it cannot succeed. No program, however excellent, can go forward without unanimous support.

The situation as revealed in press reports gives the thinking people of the country grave concern. They look back to the dark days in March and feel that the nation has come some distance on the road up the long hill of recovery. But they look from side to side down precipitous cliffs of difficulty into chasms of doubt and uncertainty, and they wonder how much farther the nation can go unless the spirit of NRA fills the hearts of the people and guides the onward march. There must be unity of all groups in the desire for recovery and harmonious action to attain it. As far as industry is concerned, there is no fault to find with the plan. It has high merit. It is a great hope. But without action it is no more than a beautiful dream. And that action must be united.

Secret of Creation

Scientists have decided that they have found the secret of creation. They believe they have seen matter actually in process of being formed from energy. Photographs were necessary to catch the secret, and now that it is out, the world is wondering what to do with it.

Various chemicals and radi-active materials were used in the experiment. Thus far no way has been found to create anything valuable, as the work produces such small quantities of whatever it is that is created. No scientist has yet announced intention to create a new world. The favorite sport of alchemists was the attempt to change baser materials into gold. The modern scientist should do even better—he should create money out of cosmic rays. He should be able to create wealth without having to organize a corporation or operate a factory.

There is no doubt of the scientist's ability to learn how matter is created, but he will not be able to produce it in quantities to compete with the normal creative processes. He may learn how, but he cannot know the why; that is left for the philosopher to ponder and for the religionist to discern by faith.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of the Journal and Courier:
Beverly Hills, Calif., Sept. 27.—Roscoe Turner crossed the country in ten hours, thus bringing towns too close together. Railroads are finally waking up. They are building a new train now that wasn't modelled in the nineties but we have to take the bad news with the good. Ring Lardner died. You can always get better planes, better trains, but we can't get another Ring Lardner. What a privilege to have known him since those good old days when he wrote sketches for Mr. Ziegfeld's Follies. In years to come when libraries put just books in one wing, and literature in the other, you are mighty liable to find Lardner's writings right in with the literature.

Bill Terry and Goose Goslin Have Shown Real Class When Playing in Baseball Classic

By Edward J. Neil
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, Sept. 27.—(P)—The payoff on previous world series experience doesn't figure to be heavy, with only a half dozen veterans of championship warfare in the banks of the New York and Washington regulars, but two of the big guns, Bill Terry of the Giants and Leon (Goose) Goslin of the Senators, have brilliant reputations to sustain.

Terry, successor to John McGraw at the Giants helm, did about all you could ask of one ordinary working man in the series of 1924, one of the most dramatic in baseball history, when he got into five games against the Senators, hit safely six times in 14 appearances at the plate, batted out one home run, scored three times, and wound up with a batting average of .429.

Goslin, soaring high, played every minute of that seven game series and did even more execution, but at a slower pace. In 32 times at bat Goslin gathered eleven hits, three of them homers, scored four times, drove in seven runs and averaged .344.

The next year, against the Pirates in another seven game series, the Goose went to bat 20 times, batted out eight hits, again getting three home runs, driving in six and scoring six.

Gus Mancuso, the Giants' dependable backstop, was the No. 2 catcher for the Cardinals in two world series, and Travis Jackson tasted the front line fire in 1924 after being a pinch hitter the year before.

Jackson played well in the field against Washington nine years ago but he was a successful hitter at last, getting only two safe blows in 27 times.

at the plate for a mark of .074. This year he is expected to do considerable hitting, and Terry's lone worry concerning his third base play as a substitute for Johnny Vergez, is his fielding ability, strongest point back in 1924. Major operations on injured knees have slowed the veteran, left him fragile and susceptible to muscle strains that come of favoring his legs.

Buddy Myer, steady-going second baseman, played with the Senators in the 1925 series and Ossie Bugee was at third base in both 1924 and 1925. Neither did anything startling at the plate.

The only hurler with world series experience is Adolfo Luque of the Giants, who saw brief service with the Reds in 1919.

Neither Carl Hubbell, Freddy Fitzsimmons, nor Hal Schumacher, Earl Whitehill, Al Crowder or Wally Stewarts, hit safely closer than the stand to a world series game.

MACKS CLINCH THIRD PLACE

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—(P)—The Philadelphia Athletics clinched third place in the American League today when they divided a doubleheader with the New York Yankees, losing the first 7 to 0 and winning the nightcap, called in the seventh on account of darkness, 10 to 1.

Lefty Gomez held the A's to seven scattered hits while his mates were getting to Bob Grove for thirteen, one of them Lou Gehrig's 32nd home run of the season, in the first game.

With Johnny Marcum, American Association recruit, hurling four-hit ball for his third major league victory, and Jimmy Fox driving in five runs with his 48th homer and two singles, the Athletics had little trouble taking the abbreviated nightcap.

DRAKE GRIDMEN WORKOUT
Des Moines, Sept. 27.—(P)—Coach V. Green, one time pupil of Bob Zuppke, put his memory to work today and recalled some Illinois plays for a freshman team to use against the varsity in preparation for Drake's invasion of the Illini camp Saturday.

The demonstration followed a session of blocking and tackling and a series of drills. In the scrimmage, the varsity was able to stop the "Illinois" plays.

Tommy Loughran Jabs Out Fifteen Round Decision Over Fading Jack Sharkey

By Edward J. Neil
Baker Field, Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—(P)—The revenge that Tommy Loughran has lived for through four troublesome years came sweetly to him tonight as he jabbed out a fifteen round decision over fading Jack Sharkey, and even managed to batter the floor the man who knocked him out in three rounds in 1928.

Before a home crowd of no more than 10,000 the fleet Philadelphia courageously stood up under a terrific body bombardment, boxed his way out of one trying moment after another, and then stunned the gathering by dropping Sharkey to his knees in the tenth with a right hand smash to the chin.

In fact it was this amazing punch, probably the hardest Loughran ever delivered, that gave Tommy the decision. The two judges, Al Voice and Herman Weingert, were divided in their opinion, the first giving Loughran the second for Loughran, Referee "Spud" Murphy scored the rounds evenly, giving Loughran six, Sharkey six, and called three even, but his deciding vote was for Loughran because of the knockdown.

It was a far more thrilling duel than their first meeting in the Yankee stadium four years ago when a chance at the featherweight championship hung in the balance. A punching fury that night, Sharkey caught Loughran in a corner in the eighth round, and took full advantage of it, staying away until Sharkey tired of his little game and resumed his slow, forcing battle.

The gate receipts were not expected to count high enough to cover Sharkey's $25,000 guarantee, and there was little prospect that Loughran would receive anything but revenge for his greatest effort.

Sharkey weighed 202, Loughran, 183.

BLUEBOYS GET NEW SHIRTS FOR GAME
New Blue Jerseys With White Shoulders Make Team Appear to be Acres Across—Backfield Men Get New Blue Pants.

Illinois College's Blueboys are Blueboys in more than name only. Their new uniforms, last night issued instructions to the managers to issue new game shirts to the entire squad and new pants to the backfield candidates. The shirts are of blue, with the white shoulders, giving the line the appearance of being acres big. The boys put on their new shirts and worked out for the second time yesterday under the lights, breaking in their new equipment.

The college uniforms now are composed of blue shirts, blue pants, and blue socks. Headgear have been painted blue and have the white stripes across the top, required by the rules. Backfield pants differ from those worn by the linemen in that they have white stripes running from the belt to the knee on the rear side of both legs, thus making it possible to identify the backs quickly.

Showing improvement all along the line, the two lines and backfields were put through a scrimmage during the afternoon session, during which they tried out their plays. The first string backfield was made up of Captain Don Miller, guard, Paul Sweney and Albert DiCenso at halves, and Tony Poon at fullback. DiCenso is the only freshman to break into the varsity backfield this year, thus far, although there was some indication last night that Kenneth Mann, Boon, Iowa, last year's center in the varsity backfield for the start against Shurtleiff college Friday night.

The varsity line was made up of Roy Collin and Lyle Longworth at ends, Abe Peduris and Mefford Kurtz, tackles, John Strain and John Donvick, guards, and Lou Davis, center. An equally imposing array of backs are ready to substitute for the varsity backfield. Nick Watts, fullback from Monticello, Ray Smith and Clarence Weir, both of Pleasant Hill, and L'Ambrasio, of Abingdon, all freshmen, are capable of doing their part in any football game.

The second string line also is becoming stronger. Norbert Miller, White Hall, and Hubert Pearce, letterman last year, at the wings, Walter Baranfang, 218 pound freshman from Vandell, and Bert Schofield, from last year's squad, tackles, Ford, of Girard, and Everette Eichstaedt, guard from last year, and Bob Miller, center last year, make up the reserve linemen.

Russ Sporer, of Schurz high school, Chicago, rated all-city all-star last end two years ago in the high school circles, enrolled at the college yesterday, and appeared for football practice. Sporer, a sturdy lad, took the eye of both Coaches Van Meter and Nussplickel, and may get a varsity job before long.

under Sharkey's terrific body battering, and the courage to keep going after the sailor's first real punch, a left hook to the head, opened a gash in his right eyebrow.

Loughran's margin was desperately close and many of the critics, counting the astonishing knockdown merely as an incident in one round, gave Sharkey an edge over the route. But Loughran's margin was so close that the Boston saltman, knocked out of his championship by Primo Carnera in June, and walloped by King Levin in Chicago ten days ago, out of the round every bit the way Loughran played tag. Occasionally he stooped, came down from his dance to the balls of his feet, and let fly with everything he had at Sharkey's chin.

It was just such a wallop as this that was Sharkey full in the face in his follow-up round. Loughran was in the tenth. To the frantic amazement of the crowd, Sharkey's eyes glazed, he stumbled forward to his knees, then came up without a count, wobbly and badly hurt.

It was too close to the end of the round for Loughran to take full advantage. Sharkey held on for the few seconds that were left. He came out for the eleventh still wobbly and wavering, but there was a titter glint in his eyes that told Loughran, and everyone else close enough to see, that he was not staying away until Sharkey tired of his little game and resumed his slow, forcing battle.

GIANTS DIVIDE WITH PHILLIES

New York, Sept. 27.—(P)—Bill Terry gave his two pitching aces, Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher, their final workouts for the world series today, but the best the New York Giants could do was an even break in a doubleheader with the Phillies.

Hubbell, picked to hurl the first game, threw seven innings, the Senators won the opening contest 3 to 1 for his 23rd victory of the year and the 100th of his major league career.

Quincy High to Attempt to Break Rocket String of Wins On Illinois College Field

Quincy, Sept. 27.—(P)—The Rockets will go into the game with one of their regulars out of the line-up. Schindler a letterman from last year, will be unable to compete because of illness. Johnson has taken his place in the line.

Routt will have a green backfield with one exception. Mario Cicuto, who came to Routt last year from Moosehart, is calling signals and is the only veteran in the backfield. Westray, of Clinton, a 185 pounder, will be in the fullback position, with Lawrance, a youngster from Springfield, in the other fullback position and Torricelli, a reserve from last year's squad, in the other halfback position.

Routt's line will average 158 pounds and its backfield 150 pounds at least for the first game. A tall and rangy group of boys, the Rockets put a lot of snap and precision into their actions on the football field. They have been in the past hard blockers and tacklers, and have lost none of their poise in these fundamental this year.

INDIC GRAFTON MAN FOR MURDER; FURNISHES BOND

Jerseyville, Sept. 27.—The grand jury of the Jersey county circuit court completed its work late Monday afternoon following a session of little more than one half day. Four indictments were returned, among the most pending in the local courts to date.

James Slaton of Grafton was indicted for murder, the charge arising from the slaying of Mark Highfill the morning of June 23rd. Highfill resided several miles from Grafton and the morning of the killing had gone to deliver a cow to a resident of the name of Thomas O'Donnell. On the return trip Highfill was shot by Slaton in the highway in front of the latter's residence.

After the shooting, Slaton called Sheriff Byron L. McDow and informed the officer regarding what had occurred. McDow drove to Grafton and arrested Slaton. He was brought to Jerseyville and lodged in the county jail, pending the filing of charges and a preliminary hearing. Later the preliminary hearing was held by Justice E. J. Edwards in the sum of $10,000.00 for his appearance to the grand jury. The bond was furnished with a number of Grafton residents signing as sureties.

An indictment charging grand larceny was returned against Fred Herring of Alton. The charge against Herring arose out of the theft of an automobile belonging to Charles Siebenman of Jerseyville the evening of June 7th.

Shortly after the theft, the loss of the car was discovered by Siebenman. He telephoned to Alton police officials and Herring was apprehended as he was driving into North Alton. A chase followed between Herring and the Alton officers which resulted in the shooting of Herring and his being "badly wounded."

A petit larceny indictment was returned against Patrick Coleman, of Jerseyville. Coleman was charged with the theft of a car belonging to Kersey Pruitt, former village clerk of Fieldon, was indicted on a charge of embezzlement of license fees collected while serving as clerk which the Department of Conservation charges were not paid. The amount of fees claimed by the department as unpaid was $8.25.

WIRE DETAILS OF MYSTERY BODY TO MICHIGAN TOWN

Carrollton, Sept. 27.—Sheriff Ward Burton received a telegram this morning from South Haven, Mich., asking for details on the finding of a man's body in a field south of here Monday. The man, apparently dead for two weeks, had a bullet hole in his forehead.

The message from the Michigan officers stated that a man by the name of Texas George is missing from South Haven. A laundry mark "T.G." was found on the unidentified man's shirt.

The telegram asked that a photograph of the decedent be sent to South Haven, but that is impossible owing to the condition of the body which was buried on the same day it was found. The Greene county sheriff, however, dispatched a description to Michigan.

Ringleaders of Prison Break

Harry Pierpont, left, and Russell Clark, who led the escape of ten convicts from the Indiana prison. They trapped the superintendent of the shirt factory, where they were working, in the basement, and with eight other convicts seized him as a shield and began their dash for freedom.

—NEA—Chicago Bureau.

Jacksonville may have had to wait a little longer for its first mess of football, but it's going to be dished up tonight on the Illinois College field with Routt high and Quincy doing the serving.

The Rockets, with gleaming new purple shirts and glistening leather helmets that appear to be steel, snapped through a short practice for the game under the lights last night. They appeared ready to go, and will have a neat bunch of shifts and passes to toss at Quincy.

The only fear that Coach Baptist had last night was that greenness would crop out at the wrong time. He admits his team is heavy, averaging about 158 pounds, and that has a lot of possibilities. However, he could not be drawn into a forecast about the outcome.

The new Routt shirts are of light wool, with 12 inch numbers on the back. There is no doubt about the players, because they glare out at you as if they were talking.

Reviewing the Routt record last night, we discovered that in the last four years they have played a total of 38 games, and have won 23 of them. Three of the five losses occurred four years ago, only two games having been lost since that time. And furthermore, Routt has been undefeated for the past two years, and has won 13 straight games. They're looking for old lucky 14 tonight.

Beginning three years ago, Routt began to allow only one touchdown to its opponents. In their defeats they have lost by only one touchdown, and last year they were scored upon only once. University high of Normal turned the trick.

Quincy tried to check the Rockets last year, and almost did it. Routt scored a safety to win 2-0.

Coach Robey Burns announced yesterday that Fred Young, Bloomington Pantagraph sports editor and president of the Illinois Athletic Occasions Association, has been named referee of the game between the Tigers and Cathedral high here beginning at three o'clock Friday afternoon.

That will be the second game of the football week-end for local gridlers. The third game involving local teams will be Friday night when Illinois College opens with Shurtleff, and the final game will be Saturday afternoon when Beardstown plays the Crimson here.

Routt may have to put hip-boots on their players if there is as much dew tonight as there was last night. After about a half hour of practice, the ball became slick and difficult to control, last night. A lot of the moisture is expected to go out of the ground today, however, improving conditions.

Russell Sporer, former Schurz high school, Chicago, football player, and all-state high school end two years ago, enrolled at Illinois College yesterday. Sporer, although not as large as most all state players are expected to be, gave evidence in a football scrimmage yesterday that he can play a bang-up game of football. Where he will play it for the Blue-boys remains to be seen.

Leo Knepler is planning to leave Jacksonville today to go to Chicago, where he will visit the World's Fair. Mr. Knepler is on vacation from his duties at the State Hospital.

HUNT SHERIFF KIDNAPED WHEN CONVICTS FLEE

Wreck Two Autos In Their Efforts To Escape

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 27.—(P)—Police and private citizens today searched a wooded area near Chesterton in an effort to capture four of ten escaped convicts from the Michigan City state prison and rescue Sheriff Charles Neel of Corydon, Ind., who was kidnapped by the felons.

The four convicts were reported to have entered the woods on foot after they had wrecked the sheriff's car near Wheeler, as well as another automobile, they commandeered from Cecil Stainer, a farmer of near Valparaiso, Ind. Stainer's car, one wheel broken, was found about ten miles north of Valparaiso. Stainer was compelled to drive the four desperadoes and their captive sheriff to Wheeler. He escaped while they were getting gasoline at a filling station.

Five others of the ten convicts who fled from the penitentiary yesterday were reported seen at the farm home of William Werner near Wanatah, where they remained until nightfall last night. They terrorized Werner and his family, and then fled in the direction of Lafayette, Ind., still using an automobile taken from Herbert Van Valkenberg of Oswego, Ill.

Van Valkenberg's wife and Mrs. Minnie Schultz, 58, a relative, were with him at the time. All of them were forced to get out of the car, but none was harmed.

The tenth member of the band of convicts was believed to be hiding in the city nearby.

One group of the escaping men seized Sheriff Neel and his car near the prison shortly after he had committed to the penitentiary James Whitman for a one to ten year sentence for slaying his father.

The prison's shirt factory was the scene of the beginning of their break for freedom. There, on the pretense that the machinery had broken down, the escaped prisoners summoned Albert Evans, an assistant warden, and forced him and the plant superintendent, G. H. Stevens to accompany them. Seven of the ten had pistols. The others were armed with clubs.

After holding a "council of war" in a ventilating tunnel, the desperadoes picked up bundles of clothes and marched through the prison, telling each guard they encountered they were "taking these shirts out." Evans and Stevens were unable to sound a warning because they were menaced by pistols concealed beneath the shirts.

When they reached the guard room, which forms a part of the prison wall, they slugged Fred Wellnitz into unconsciousness with pistol butts, meanwhile forcing Guy Barklow, another guard, to open the gates.

As they emerged from the prison wall the convicts entered the office of the prison clerk and searched the vault for money.

As orders were shouted at the clerks one of them, Finley P. Carson, became confused and was shot twice because he did not move to obey quick enough. However, the wounds were found to be minor.

RETURN INDICTMENTS
Marion, Ill., Sept. 27.—(P)—Seventeen indictments, most of them charging minor offenses, were returned by the Williamson county grand jury today. Charles Fry, captured recently after breaking jail a year ago, was indicted on a charge of aiding two other prisoners to escape.

TWO ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF THEFT OF DESOLLAR CAR

Following the recovery of the Chevrolet automobile owned by J. E. Desollar of this city, Porter Hayes and Amos Johnson are prisoners in the Morgan county jail charged with the car's theft last Sunday night. The machine was stolen at Alexander last Sunday night, and found Monday in a field three miles southwest of Alexander, where it is believed the thieves intended to strip it.

Working on the clue that Hayes and Johnson had stolen the machine, Sheriff Fletcher J. Blackburn yesterday placed the two under arrest.

DISEASE AND HUNGER MARK STORM'S PATH

Continue Search For Bodies In Tampico Ruins

Tampico, Mexico, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Disease, hunger, and thirst threaten to add their terrors today to those of floods and storms which four days ago brought death and destruction here.

An official estimate placed the dead at 54 and the injured at more than 850. It was feared many more bodies were buried in the city-wide ruins and that the number hurt may total well over 1,500.

The stock of wheat is sufficient, last only three days more. Other supplies are nearly gone. Medical supplies have been sent from Mexico, D. F., but their arrival is problematical because of disrupted rail service.

Much of the city lies in ruins; the harbor, filled with mud and debris, can not be used; residents have to take water from small private wells for fear broken public water systems may be contaminated.

Thousands Homeless
From Panuco, to the southwest, has come word that 5,000 there are homeless and desperately in need of food. Hospitals are crowded with injured. Nearby towns sent out appeals for day for aid, saying the hurricane and floods had caused extensive damage.

It was feared a heavy loss of life occurred in the Puntilla district, the right bank of the Panuco.

General Anselmo Macias, director of relief work, said every building in Tampico was damaged.

"I believe the number of dead will never be known," he declared, "as many bodies in sections flooded by the Panuco River were undoubtedly washed to sea."

WIFE BRINGS SUIT, ALLEGING CRUELTY

A series of alleged acts of cruelty are set forth in a bill for divorce filed in circuit court Wednesday by Mrs. Anna E. DeLess. The alleged attack covered a period of years, the court plaintiff charges.

On one occasion, according to the bill, DeLess threw a cup and struck his wife in the face. Another time, the bill says, he threw a carbolic acid solution in her face. She cited an instance of where he knocked her down a stairway, and another when he bit her severely.

The couple were married in Hannibal, Mo., Feb. 12, 1912. Mrs. DeLess is represented in the suit by Attorney D. J. Staley.

BEAUTIFUL ARRAY OF NEW STYLES IN FALL OPENING SHOW

Shoulders High, Wide, Handsome on Garments; Viewed By Thousands

Fall fashions bring a new order of style for those who care. To those who can remember back in the early years of this century, the new things are highly reminiscent of the 1920s. Those little frills and touches that people notice so quickly are the things which seem to bring to mind those days of long ago.

Just how many of those who viewed the beautiful displays of fall fashions last night in the windows of the Jacksonville stores and shops could recall the sameness in the styles is unknown. But the thousands who paraded before these windows were indicative of the interest that is being taken in the new things for this fall and winter, and praise was high for the splendid variety of fashions shown.

The fall opening shows the merchants of Jacksonville just pride in their stores, their merchandising progressiveness, their patronage. It gives them in another way an opportunity to show the many new things that have just arrived from the markets of the country.

Designing is Beautiful
The designing of new garments for fall is a thing of beauty. The broad shoulders are cultivated in a variety of ways—some in the cut of the garment, others in little extensions of like material. Skirts are very slim, and waists are too. The materials are in silks, but velvets and wools are good also, with some combinations in evidence.

Pur trims most of the coats, with luxurious combinations in fur and fabric being shown extensively. A variety of sleeves and collars may be had, from the tiny fur stay to the large shawl. Colors are chiefly black and brown, with the former finding most favor, and turs of dark hues are favorites.

Shapes in millinery are odd, with circles of shaping in the crown, but of course most of the hats are all crown, so there is really nothing else to shape. Nevertheless, the tops of the hats will be peaked in various forms, or turned or the shaping may be found on the side of the hat.

Another of the larger stores showed a brown dress fine silk crepe, with wide shoulders and a separate collar of white, and large silver ball buttons adorning the front, making an attractive garment. A line of beautiful lingerie was featured in this store window, and accessories to meet all occasions.

A maroon wool crepe suit of four pieces, including skirt, jacket and beret to match and a white pigtoe house made an ensemble which attracted the attention of many visitors to the business district. In the same windows were displays several stunning coats, one of black fabric with skunk fur received popular attention.

Men's Clothing
Men's clothing styles showed above everything else a line of patterns of a new order. There are checks, but they are of smaller proportion. Stripes continue in favor but they, as well as plaids, are greatly tempered in tone. In suits some double breasted models are shown. Overcoats are bigger and bulkier, but they are trim in every detail. Checks and plaids are popularly shown.

Individual touches will bring newness to the dressing up of the home. The armchair is good for this purpose. Many other individual pieces will aid in this seasons home-dressing. The rugs are bright colored, with
